STATEMENT 15FORM 990, PART III and PART VIII

The Polynesian Cultural Center (the Center) and its next door neighbor, Brigham Young University - Hawaii Campus (BYU-HC) both were established and are wholly controlled by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (the Church). The Polynesian people have special significance in the Church doctrine, and the Church has been active in the Polynesian Islands since very soon after its establishment in the United States in the 1830's. It conducts many activities in Polynesia intended to improve, both spiritually and economically, the lives of its members there, most of whom live in what are commonly termed "disadvantaged" communities and "underdeveloped" nations.

One of the main thrusts of the Church in Polynesia is to educate its members to enable them and their communities to adapt to and be self-sufficient in the encroaching modern world and yet not to abandon or lose respect for their native cultures or themselves. In furtherance of this objective, the Church has established BYU-HC (initially known as Church College of Hawaii) and the Center. BYU-HC was opened in 1955. Its primary purpose is to provide a college education for Polynesian students who would not otherwise have that opportunity. BYU-HC and the Church actively recruit Polynesian high school students with college potential to attend BYU-HC, obtain an education and then return to their home nations and communities and help improve them, economically and otherwise. The Church substantially subsidizes BYU-HC, which charges tuition far below that charged by most private colleges. Nevertheless, most of the students have no money to pay living expenses, transportation or tuition, however low. Most of the students also lack job experience and skills and do not speak English fluently when they first enroll.

The Center was opened in 1963 as an integral part of the overall Church program in Polynesia and specifically as an adjunct to BYU-HC. The Center operates an authentic living museum of the native cultures of seven major Polynesian Islands — Samoa, Fiji, New Zealand (Maori), Tahiti, Marquesas, Tonga and Hawaii. It employs BYU-HC students from these islands as part time workers in all aspects of the Center's operations. During 2002, the Center employed an average of 632 BYU-HC students, representing approximately 64 percent of its work force. Such employment is intended to, and does, accomplish the following purposes with respect to such students:

- Teaching them the traditions of their native cultures which are threatened by modernization
- Instilling in them pride and respect for their own cultures (and themselves) and respect for other cultures
- Giving them a first job experience and on-the-job training
- Giving them an experience in sustaining themselves in the modern Western world
- Enabling them to work their way through college

FORM 990, PART III and PART VIII

In addition, the broader cultural and educational functions performed by the Center include the preservation and exhibition to the visiting public of important aspects of each of the Polynesian cultures represented, including

- Authentic replicas of representative village structures in typical settings
- Daily living activities such as cooking
- Agriculture
- Artifacts
- Arts and crafts (both the objects themselves and the skills)
- Costumes
- Traditions
- Songs and dances (which have a far more significant role in Polynesian cultures than in most Western cultures)

The Center also conducts, directly and indirectly, scholarly research necessary to assure the authenticity of the Center's activities and to foster the preservation and appreciation of Polynesian cultures

In addition, the Center performs a vital role in the extensive missionary activities of the Church, both directly, by providing a free informative tour of the Church's nearby Temple Grounds (approximately 25,000 of the Center's visitors experienced this tour in 2002), and indirectly, by exposing the Center's visitors to the Polynesian student employees and through them, to the Church's overall program in Polynesia which is a very worthwhile and impressive phase of the Church's activities

The revenues listed in Part VII are generated primarily by charges paid by visitors to the Center for admission to the village complex. In addition, since many visitors spend most of the day and evening at the Center and the location of the Center is somewhat remote, a cafeteria-style dining facility and snack bars are provided for their convenience. Sales of food in these facilities contribute gross receipts as indicated.

Approximately 730,000 guests visited the Center in 2002.

STATEMENT 16
FORM 990, PART VIII

The Center sells Polynesian cultural and educational materials, arts and crafts to the visiting public. These items are related to the Center's exempt purposes, and the sale of these items helps promote the Center's cultural and educational purposes.

STATEMENT 17
SCHEDULE A (FORM 990), PART IV-A, LINE 27

For the years ended December 31, 1998 through and including 2001, other than the contributions disclosed in Schedule A, Part IV-A, Line 27 a), the Center did not receive any gifts, grants, contributions, membership fees or gross receipts from admissions, sale of merchandise or services, or furnishing of facilities in any tax-exempt activities from any "disqualified person" except that certain disqualified persons may have paid for admission to the Center or purchased merchandise from the Center. The Center's accounting system does not include the data necessary to calculate the amount of such payments or purchases, however, the Center believes such amounts to be insignificant and de minimus.

STATEMENT 19FORM 990, PART I, LINE 20; FORM 990 STATEMENT 3

During the year ended December 31, 2002, the Center received a $5,000,000 contribution from The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. The Center recorded this contribution in its accounting records as a capital contribution in accordance with Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 116, "Accounting for Contributions Received and Contributions Made." This contribution is also reflected as a capital contribution in the Center's audited financial statements which are prepared in accordance with Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 117, "Financial Statements of Not-for-Profit Organizations." Accordingly, this contribution is reflected in the Form 990 as a capital contribution consistent with the Center's audited financial statements.
